CLARK COUNTY HERO VISITS FRIENDS HERE

Cecil Elkin Upheld Highest Traditions of Gallantry and Bravery of Kentuckians in Many Battles.

Wearing two wound stripes and a red cord given by France for numerous citations for bravery, Cecil Elkin, of Clark County, who has many relatives and friends here, came to Richmond Saturday, and was a guest of Dr. D. J. Williams, and others here. He paid the Daily Register an appreciated call.

Few of the boys who went to the service of their country from this section, so distinguished themselves as did young Elkin.

Elkin is home on a 30 days furlough after which he will return to New York for further orders. He is a member of the 18th Company, 5th regiment, U. S. Marines, and enlisted in Cincinnati a little over a year ago. He has been in France since January 1918.

Elkin tells a gripping story of "over the top," and the horrors and glories of war. "I would not take a fortune for my experiences," he commented, "but I would not give a penny to go through any of them again."

He took part in the famous battle of Belleau Wood, where an American officer's "Retreat hell; let the boches retreat," was the turning point of the great war.

Elkin was in the trenches when thousands of his comrades were lying dead and wounded about him. One becomes so used to the horrors of war he explained, that the fighting soldier will take aim at the enemy without a quiver of muscle, over the stacked bodies of those who a few moments before were his friends and comrades.

On June 3rd, Elkin received a bad leg wound, caused by a bursting shell. The same shell killed his closest comrade, Emmett Finney, 17, of Missouri. Finney's body, his scalp torn off, fell across young Elkin, who merely had strength to thrust him aside. His own body was drenched with the blood of his friend.

How long he laid before the stretcher bearers arrived he will never know. But relief finally came and he was taken to a hospital, where he remained until August. In speaking of his experience in the trenches, he said:

"Our battalion suffered terrible losses in Belleau Wood. At one point I was with 64 men, who laid down in a skirmish line—only 11 of us got up. It was here that Finney was killed and I was wounded."

After Elkin's recovery he was returned to the front line trenches, and on October 24th was badly gassed. He was again taken to a hospital, where he remained until the order came for his return home.

Elkin accounted for at least four Germans. "One was a sniper," he said, "whom I discovered hiding in the bushes thirty yards away. I saw his helmet protruding. After I shot I ran out and got his rifle."

"A year ago I would not have believed I could have taken aim at a human being to kill him like I would a bird. But in the trenches, knowing the treachery and atrocities of Huns I found I could take a pleasure and pride in picking him off before he could me, or any of my comrades. I always chuckled when I felt I had made a particularly good shot."

Elkin was a student at Berea College and expects to resume his studies after he is discharged. He is 22 years old. His recital of his experiences is singularly free from any spirit of bravado, but grips his hearers with pride in the U. S. Marines, and a disgust against the fiendish Hun.

Elkin saw French children with their fingers cut off and their hands twisted and deformed by the ruthless acts of the German soldiers.

"It's good to be back home among old friends again," he said. "This is God's country."

A soft blue white diamond weighing 388 quarter carats has been found in the Jagersfontein mine, Orange River Colony. This promises to be one of the diamond fields' historic gems.

Against Abandonment of Hog Price Agreement

Washington, Jan. 21—Frank S. Snyder, head of the Food Administration's meat division, today announced that despite the hog surplus, he would not recommend the abandonment of the price agreement policy when the hog committee meets January 28th to consider the price. Mr. Snyder said the present surplus would turn into a definite deficit this year.

Russian Question Up Again

Paris, Jan. 21—The Russian question was again taken up by the Supreme Council of the Peace Conference today. The Danish minister to Russia, who took charge of French interests upon the withdrawal of the French ambassador, was present and was understood to have contended emphatically that intervention in Russia was necessary to check the reign of terrorism.

The Council took recess at 12:30 until 3 o'clock this afternoon, when it is planned to resume consideration of the Russian question.

At the close of the morning session President Wilson and Premier Lloyd-George engaged in an earnest discussion in an anteroom.

In general informal discussions, taking place outside of the council room, which, however, assumed to reflect the views being expressed by members of the Conference, two considerations were given first place, whether to attempt to relieve conditions in European Russia or extend armed aid to forces within Russia which are openly fighting Bolshevism in the field. Apparently the last named was little favored, certainly not by the United States.

The food situation in Germany is also being closely scrutinized but it is believed that enough food is available to last until March.

Meanwhile the league of nations plans continue to develop with the probability of a full discussion before the end of the week.

The German Elections

Paris, Jan. 21—Early returns from the German elections as interpreted here, signify promising prospects of a fairly stable German administration to be established at an early date.

The majority Socialists and German Democrats are successors to the old radical party, apparently will go into the constituent assembly with a big lead over the Independent Socialists, indicating a coalition of substantial leaders with basis of popular support.

The consummation is regarded in allied circles as an indispensable preliminary to any peace negotiations.

Big Fire At Lebanon

Lebanon, Ky. Jan. 21—Fire early today destroyed the cold storage plant of S. H. Grinstead Poultry Company, including three nearby business houses on Main street. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Monarchists Win In Portugal

Madrid, Spain, Jan. 21—The monarchist movement in northern Portugal was successful and the government has been set up at Oporto, according to a report received by the Spanish government. The report that Lisbon is believed to have joined the movement.

Lick the Bolsheviks.

London, Jan. 21—Estonian troops won a notable success against the Bolsheviks, northwest on the Lake Peipus, according to an Estonian official statement received here today. They captured the town of Narva on the Reval-Petrograd railway, with a large number of prisoners.

Little Richmond Girl's Photo Delighted Senator Martin

Among his interesting notes from the National Capital to the Danville Advocate, Editor W. V. Richardson, had the following of interest here a few days ago:

When Senator George Brown Martin entered upon his duties he found upon the mantel of his office a very splendid picture of a beautiful little Kentucky girl, which lent a touch of home to the otherwise barren walls. The Senator was very much pleased over the pretty decoration, so much so, after a long look, that he asked whose picture it was. He was informed that the photo was of little Miss Mary McRoberts Neale, of Richmond, Kentucky. The pleased Senator then turned his eyes back upon the picture and exclaimed "Well, that is strange; her father was my best friend at Central University, and I am glad to know that he has such a pretty little girl, and am more than pleased that her picture adorns my office." Senator Martin spent four years at Central University and while in Richmond he and Mr. Lewis Neale, the father of the little girl, were chums during that entire period.

Little Girl Succumbs To Influenza At Union City

One of the saddest deaths that has occurred in the Union City community, considering the circumstances, was that of little Dorothy Isabel Harris, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Harris. The little girl died last evening at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Nannie Harris, of influenza, followed by double pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Harris, who reside at Allensville, Clark county, came over for the holidays with the home folks and fell almost immediately victims to the terrible influenza epidemic which struck the Union City community so suddenly. Burial of the little girl will take place at Winchester Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Her little sister, who with her parents survives, is now ill with scarlet fever.

Berea Man Goes To France

Marshall A. Vaughn, secretary of Berea College, left Tuesday on a year's leave of absence to take charge of an educational unit of the Y. M. C. A. in France. Dr. Strayer, of Columbia University, and Dr. Butterfield, of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, are engineering the work. Mr. Vaughn's experience in Berea College asserting new students and classifying them according to their needs and abilities, has strongly recommended him for the work among the soldiers in France.

GREAT THINGS AHEAD FOR THRIFTY FARMER

Says Shelby Real Estate Man, Here Advertising Big Sale Next Week Land Sells Well Over State

J. F. Davis and Archie Bell, of the Wakefield-Davis Realty Company, of Shelbyville, were in Richmond yesterday making a tour of the blue grass, for the purpose of advertising several fine farms which they will put up at public sale next week. A large advertisement of their splendid offerings will appear in the Daily Register Thursday. The Wakefield-Davis Co., is selling some of the finest blue grass land in Kentucky this season, and its sales are always a success. In speaking of Kentucky farms and farmers, Mr. Davis said:

"There has never been such a change in any class of people as there has been in the farmers of the blue grass section in the past few years. The man who a few years ago owned a good farm now either owns a great deal more land or has a bank account and stocks and bonds; the man who was a great deal in debt on the farm at that time, now has his farm paid for; the man who bought then has just about paid for his farm and finds it worth a great deal more than when he bought it. The man who bought last year and made his first payment has made enough in the last twelve months to pay a great deal more than he expected to when the next pay day comes around; the man who has been renting or cropping on the shares finds that he has more money than he ever expected to have and is able to make a good payment on a small farm and get his whole crop instead of giving the landlord half.

"He will be able to pay for his farm too, for hasn't Mr. Wilson asked Congress to appropriate a hundred million dollars to help feed Europe, as they are starving and will not be self-sustaining for years, so we will have to feed them.

"Then it can't be thought that the big tobacco companies would take over this big crop at the enormous prices at which they are taking it if they felt that it could be bought cheaper next fall. Therefore the farmer is to the front to stay and his best bet at the present time is to buy land that is located right when he can find it at the right prices, which is the object of our sales."

Plot To Kill Rockefeller.

Washington, Jan. 21—A plot to kill John D. Rockefeller and his son John D. Jr., was planned by anarchists in 1914, shortly after the beginning of the European war, was described to the Senate propaganda investigating committee today by Thomas Turney, Police Inspector of New York.

Turney said the plotters who were known as Carsens, Berg and Hanson, were all killed by the explosion of the bomb they have prepared for the Rockefellers. Other wealthy persons were also to suffer the same fate. Inspector Turney testified that anarchy in the United States is evidencing renewed activity.

STATE SERVICE FLAG

A large service flag containing 185 stars and one large gold star has been placed in his office by Major Henry F. Rhodes, Chief of the Selective Service Department. The 185 blue stars stand for the local draft boards and represent 66,500 Kentuckians drafted into the army. The large gold star in the center is "In memory of the Selective Service men who have sacrificed their lives in the world war." Although the casualty list has not been completed to date Major Rhodes is of the opinion that Kentucky will have between 1,800 and 2,000 men on the Honor Roll.

KEEPS WATCH ON SEAMEN'S HEALTH

Uncle Sam Will Take Good Care of His Merchant Crews.

SEAMAN'S BOTTLE IS LATEST

Contains Passports to Good Health by Providing Free Hospital Treatment Anywhere—Days of the Dog's Life Now History.

Washington.—Uncle Sam is getting more watchful of the health of his merchant crews as the great American peace-time fleet continues to grow. The latest innovation of the United States shipping board in the "seaman's bottle," which has now become one of the cherished possessions of hundreds of American seamen.

This little glass bottle, small enough to be carried in the vest pocket, contains passports to good health—printed forms which, when filled out by a ship's captain, will gain admittance for the holder to any United States marine hospital or relief station of the public health service in every important port in the United States. On a foreign voyage the application will provide the seaman with the best medical care, free of charge, on application to the United States consular officer.

At present the bottle is being provided only for men who have been trained for a sea career by the recruiting service of the shipping board, but in the opinion of Surgeon General Blue every American seaman should have one.

It is in port that the new "seaman's bottle," which was originated by Dr. Louis W. Croke, medical director of the shipping board recruiting service, plays its chief part. A seaman in need of medical attention has merely to dig the bottle out of his kit, bring the printed form to his skipper to be filled out and then go ashore to the nearest federal official.

Free Hospital Care.

The label which bears the imprint of the board's recruiting service informs the seafarer that he is entitled to free hospital care no matter what his station aboard ship. The term "seamen," it says, means not only the men who are employed on deck but persons employed on board in the care, preservation or navigation of the ship, and it even includes those who are in the service, on board, of those engaged in such care, preservation or navigation.

When discharged by the medical authorities the American seaman is given free passage to the port from which he originally signed, unless the articles provide for discharge elsewhere, or if in a foreign port to some port in the United States. He must serve on board the ship on which his passage has been arranged if possible. The "seaman's bottle" not only impress upon Americans who are going to sea the privileges to which they are entitled as seamen of the United States but will preserve the certificate and keep it clean.

Years ago, in the days of the clipper ship, and even since that time, the sick or disabled American sailor at sea or in a foreign port had no resource but the charity of his captain or shipmates. Old-time skippers generally prescribed and supplied a blue pill and the crews were not burdened with funds to lend.

Harrowing tales have been told of those dark days of the merchant marine, of men forced to lie for weeks in cramped, foul-smelling forecastles, often beset by rats and without proper food, light, air or clothing.

If the man lived until the ship reached port some sort of care might be provided for him, but hundreds died, were buried at sea; their togs were sold and they were soon forgotten.

Must Carry Medicines.

But the days when the life of a sailor was a dog's life at best are now history. Every vessel flying the American flag and engaged on long voyages is required to carry a chest of medicines suitable for the treatment of common ailments and injuries. Failure to comply with this law subjects the master or owners of the vessel to a heavy fine.

Scurvy, that scourge of the old days, has practically disappeared from the American mercantile marine because of the liberal supplies of lime or lemon juice, sugar and vinegar that are now required to be carried on every ship on a long voyage and to be given daily to the crew within ten days after salt provisions have been chiefly served to them. In the days of yore "salt junk" was the main item on every food bill of fare. This food, consigned to the vessel in barrels, was generally stowed below as ballast and sometimes remained there for a long time before being requisitioned for the crew. This diet, with the lack of fresh vegetables, caused scurvy.

Adequate hospital facilities aboard ship also are provided. The law requires that in addition to the space allotted for lodgings, which must be roomy and well ventilated, all merchant vessels of the United States, which ordinarily make voyages of more than three days' duration between ports and which carry more than twelve seamen, shall have a suitable hospital compartment with at least one comfortable bunk for every twelve seamen aboard.

As some parties were returning from Lexington last Saturday night, in some way, one machine tried to pass another just in front of Roscoe Whitlock's store and unfortunately the back machine struck the front one causing it to run into the stone steps at the porch, tearing them down and turning the machine over. One man was caught underneath the machine and if it had not been for several men in the store at the time he could not have lived very long. They rushed out quickly and removed the machine from off his body. Another man was thrown through the wind shield, sutting him considerably. We did not learn all their names and will not publish those we did learn as they might not like their names in print.

SPANISH INFLUENZA MORE DEADLY THAN WAR

Said That Epidemic Cost More Lives
Than American Loss in Battle.
Danger Not Over. Great Care
Necessary To Prevent Further Outbreak.

The appalling ravages of Spanish Influenza in this country are perhaps best realized by the statement recently made, that more deaths have resulted in little more than a month from this disease than through our whole eighteen months participation in the battles of the European War.

Our greatest danger, now, declare authorities, is the American tendency to forget easily and to believe the peril is over. Competent authorities claim the coming of cold weather is very apt to bring a return of this disease and there should be no let-up throughout the winter months of the following easily observed precautions, remembering that influenza is far easier to prevent than cure.

Influenza is a crowd disease. Avoid crowds as much as possible. Influenza germs spread where ignorant or careless persons sneeze or cough without using a handkerchief. Cover up each cough or sneeze. Do not spit on the floor, sidewalks in street cars or public places. Avoid the use of common drinking cups and roller towels in public places. Breathe some reliable germicidal and antiseptic air to destroy the germs that do find lodgement in your nose and throat.
Remember, no safer precaution against Influenza could be employed in this manner than to get from the nearest drug store a complete Hyomei Outfit consisting of a bottle of the Pure Oil of Hyomei and a little vest pocket hard rubber inhaler device, into which a few drops of the oil are poured. You should carry this inhaler about with you during the day and each half hour or so put it in your mouth and draw deep breaths of its pure, healing germ killing air into the air passages of your nose, throat and lungs.

By destroying germs before they actually begin work in your blood, you may make yourself practically immune to infection.

All these suggestions about Spanish Influenza are equally true in the prevention of colds, catarrh of nose and throat, bronchitis and even pneumonia.
Don't become careless. Do your part. Keep the germs away. You may save your own life and the life of others by doing so.

Upon the testimony of little 12-pints of whisky, at $2.50 a pint, Judge

Murray Smith soaked them for $100

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly. . . Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then . . . it would last . . . two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful. My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three. . . I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui. I am married now and have 3 children. . . Have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years. Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

Winnemucca, Neb.—Thirty dollars a day for waiting on a family was the wage at which a colored woman was hired here by a Basque sheep man to go to his ranch near McDermitt, on the Oregon line, all the members of his family being ill with flu. The sheep man had tried in vain to get help near home, and failing, came to Winnemucca. There were a number of cases of the disease here and that together with the fact that many people are afraid of contracting the flu, made it difficult to find a woman to go. The colored woman was offered $20 a day; she said it was worth $30 and without any further parleying the Basque man consented to pay it.

Mat Cohen Goes To Bat For Farmers Again

Mat Cohen, who has been making a great record on behalf of the farmers of Kentucky during his term as Commissioner of Agriculture, has taken another step looking to the eradication of communicable diseases in live stock. Commissioner Cohen is just back from Washington where he urged a federal appropriation to be used in the control and eradication of communicable diseases in live stock, the money to be used co-operatively with the states. The last session of the General Assembly appropriated $28,190 for this purpose and if the federal government makes the appropriation it will match Kentucky dollar for dollar. In fact, for every man Kentucky puts into the field, the federal government will put up a man.

Commissioner Cohen believes that the eradication of communicable diseases in live stock will, in a large measure, help to answer the demand for more meat. Since Commissioner Cohen has been on the alert looking after the interests of the farmers and this last step taken by him will not only aid the farmers, but will in a measure help to decrease the cost of meat by increasing the supply.

From Jack Phelps.

Mr. Jack Phelps writes his family here that he is hoping for his honorable discharge from Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., very soon. He landed at Newport News from overseas, after nine months in England and France. He has greatly enjoyed his stay in France, most of his time was spent at the historic old city of Nantes, after a brief training in England on Salisbury Plains.

On account of a sprained ankle he was not permitted to serve in the trenches and his disappointment was great since he comes from fighting stock, several great grandfathers in our war of the Revolution and being near akin to General Sam Houston and the "fighting McKee" of old Scotland. The uncle whose name he wears, Captain John Gibson, U. S. N., was one of the gallant officers of Admiral Dewey's flag ship at the battle of Manila Bay in the Spanish-American war, and is buried in the beautiful National cemetery at Arlington, near Washington, D. C.

Mr. Phelps has proven himself an excellent letter writer, describing the great cathedral at Nantes, built before Columbus discovered America, the museums where he spent many of his idle hours and the grand Chateau near Nantes, which fortunately were not in the war zones. His work was in the Quartermaster's Department aboard the great vessels which come in to port laden with the vast supplies for the army of the United States. To have witnessed the wonders of our great country for its soldiers is in itself a glorious privilege, and one that the soldiers in the Quartermaster's Department will never forget and will always be proud of the service to their country and their flag.

McKEE BROS. SEMI-ANNUAL

Duroc Bred Sow Sale

JANUARY 28, 1919, VERSAILLES, KY.

Sixty magnificent sows from the famous prize-winning original Defender Duroc herd. Twelve are own daughters of original Defender. All bred to Sensational Defender, Grand Champion of seven State Fairs, and our other Grand Champion and great herd boars, the biggest collection of boars in the United States. Every sow in this sale worthy to be a herd leader. Big, rangy, and roomy, with high backs and deep sides. The kind that breed frame and type to carry size. In right condition to farrow large useful litters. All given both serum and virus treatment. Should be permanently immune to cholera.

WE BREED THE BIGGEST OF THE BIG TYPE

The greatest litter pigs shown at the Tri-State Fair was out of a Defender sow.

More Grand Champions, Champions, prize-winners and sale toppers trace to Defender than to any other one sire. To produce the 1,000 pound kind you must have Defender blood, the biggest of the big type.

To Members of our Christmas Savings Club

For the New Year we have decided to discontinue the Christmas Savings Club to substitute in place thereof "The Liberty Bond Club," which will be conducted on almost the same plan as the Christmas Savings Club, the only difference being amount of payments, which are as follows:

The Club will run for 50 weeks and the payment will be $1 per week or $2 per week. On the completion of the payment of the cards the holder thereof will be entitled to a $50 Liberty Bond or a $100 Liberty Bond, plus the last coupon maturing.

This will be making your deposit bear interest, instead of running without.

We shall be very glad to see your name on our list as a member of this Club.
